

Radical Futures through Fat Liberation

As part of the Body Politics and Empowerment Week, the Center for Feminisms will be hosting a workshop on building radical futures through fat liberation! The workshop will specifically focus on understanding fat liberation through an anti-capitalist, disability justice, and racial justice lens. It's important to build movements that support fat liberation and are accountable to our fat comrades!