Registration & Information

JANUARY TERM DATES: Thursday, January 3 through Wednesday, January 23, 1991

REGISTRATION DATES: Hampshire College students:
Monday, November 26–Friday, November 30, 1990 (open registration continues until Friday, December 14, for courses in which space is still available in the January Term Office, FPH 218)
TIME: 9-12 and 1-4 daily
PLACE: Register in person LOBBY OF FRANKLIN PATTERSON HALL

FIVE COLLEGE AND COMMUNITY REGISTRATION:
Wednesday, November 28–Friday, November 30, 1990 (same time and place as above)

REGISTRATION INFORMATION:
Hampshire College students enrolling in courses on other campuses must take personal responsibility for recording the course and any missing evaluation in their Hampshire College files. Speak to the instructor about an evaluation at the beginning of the course.

Registration forms are included in the back of this catalog for Hampshire College courses. Additional forms are available at the January Term Office, FPH 218.

LOCAL RESIDENTS are invited to take January Term courses. Tuition is $50.00 per course payable to the January Term Office at time of registration.

Students in colleges outside the Five College area are welcome to attend January Term at Hampshire.

 Occasionally a one-for-one exchange can be worked out with a Hampshire student. Otherwise the visiting student fee is $1410.00 for tuition, room and board.

NOTE: Hampshire College does not use grades or credit hours. The College cannot provide an official transcript in any form to document a visiting student's performance. The most that can be made available is verification of the student's registration (not completion) in a January Term course. An instructor's personal evaluation can be sent if mutual agreement is reached between the student and the instructor.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION PLEASE CALL OR WRITE DANA PELLETIER, COORDINATOR, JANUARY TERM PROGRAM, HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE, AMHERST, MA. 01002 (413) 549-4600, extension 409.

JANUARY TERM at Hampshire and the Five Colleges offers a deliberate change of pace from fall and spring terms, a unique opportunity to pursue a variety of interests. Students may study a specific subject in depth, take practical courses or workshops, participate in seminars, or work independently on divisional examinations. January Term can also be a time to study something that doesn't quite fit into the regular program of study. Recent January Term offerings have ranged from an ecotourism trip to a tropical rain forest and coral reef to courses in dance therapy, fiction writing as a profession, and gene cloning.

Faculty members often use January Term to experiment with new approaches or explore new subject matter, making their students partners in curriculum development. January Term faculty include regular and visiting professors, current students, alumni, staff members, parents, and professionals willing to share their expertise.

During the term frequent evening lectures feature guest speakers on a wide range of topics. There are also numerous films and "coffee house" presentations on campus and at the other colleges in the area.

More than half of Hampshire's students on campus in January choose from more than 65 formal and informal educational activities. The college strongly encourages participation in January Term, but it is not required. Students may also work, travel, or study elsewhere in January. The other members of the Five College consortium offer courses open to Hampshire students throughout the month.

JANUARY TERM AT THE OTHER FIVE COLLEGES

Hampshire College students may register for January Term courses at Five College institutions. Only Mount Holyoke and the Division of Continuing Education at the University offer courses for academic credit. Students taking courses at the University of Massachusetts should be aware that a tuition fee is charged. Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke and the University of Massachusetts offer non-credit courses. Smith offers no courses but has planned a multi-day seminar, some of which may be available to students. Please check directly with Smith's Internships Office for specific information. Five College students registering for credit courses must obtain permission of their home institution to earn credits during January.

Catalogs from Amherst, Mount Holyoke, Smith and the University will be available in the office of the January Term coordinator, FPH 218 and the Central Records office. Further information may be obtained at the following locations:

Amherst: Campus Center (542-5773) January Interns January 7-27
Mount Holyoke: Office of the January Program Coordinator, 1 Safford Hall (580-3110 ext. 2048) and the Registrar's Office, Mary Lyon Hall January Program January 3-23
Smith: Internships Office, College Hall, Room 217 (584-2700 ext. 4904)
UMASS: Goodell Building, Room 610 (543-1033) Winter Session January 3-24

Students fully enrolled in one of the Five Colleges may take part in courses or attend any events offered at the other four, with a few exceptions. For information on courses, fees, times, instructors, and locations—students should turn to the January catalogs which are published by the individual colleges.

Courses & Workshops

JT 101 GENE CLONING
Lynn Miller (NS)
We will spend 8 hours each day, 5 days a week learning how to isolate DNA, digest DNA with enzymes, identify fragments of DNA on gels, put these fragments into plasmids, and put the plasmids back into various bacterial cells. In other words, this will be an intensive laboratory experience for those interested in learning this new little bit of biology.
No experience needed. All that you need is enthusiasm to learn, ability to work carefully, and tolerance of 12 hour days working and thinking.
Meets: M/T/W/Th/F 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.
CSC Lab
Enrollment: 16 first come, first served.
See instructor and then register in Lobby of FPH

JT 102 TROPICAL RAINFOREST AND CORAL REEF ECOLOGY—Trip
Charles D’Aoust and John Reid (NS)
This course is a 10-day field trip to Belize in Central America, run in cooperation with the Fisk College Coastal and Marine Sciences Program. Students will be introduced to the ecology and natural history of Belize carried out through field trips, lectures, and experiential work.
We will especially emphasize coral reef, rainforest, and evergreen ecology. Special topics will include effects of urbanization on reefs and rivers and Mayan culture, past and present.
Please contact instructor at CSC 206, ext. 569 or 568 by November 18 for all information. The trip will be made up of 20-30 College students.

JT 103 SHEEP PRODUCTION AND MANAGE-MENT
Benjamin Oke (NS)
This course will involve the application of science and basic principles of nutrition, genetics, physiology and marketing to the production and management of sheep.
Students will also have hands-on experience on preparing ewes for lambing, care of ewes and lambs at parturition, and care of ewe after lambing.
Meets: Organizational meeting JANUARY 3 at 9:00 a.m. Thompson Hall

JT 104 HAMPSHIRE’S APPLE TREES—OR-CHARDS, ORGANIC, PRUNING, PRIDE!
Karen Carroll ‘90 and Leah McFarr ‘90
This course focuses on the maintenance and history of Hamphire College’s apple orchards, emphasizing the following:
• Underake a highly visible group project which helps keep the college ‘looking good’, have fun outside during January Term.
• Learn orchard care through helping maintain Hampshire’s orchards.
• Prune apple trees, learn pruning skills.
• See examples of commercial production orchards and talk with orchardists.
• Learn history of Hampshire’s orchards.
• Develop awareness of how surrounding forests of Hampshire’s orchards, and be able to participate in planning discussions.
• Provide jump-off points for research, divs, further study.
We will combine classroom discussion and visits by guest lecturers with significant time outside learning about the orchards, the trees, and of course pruning.
Readings will serve as background-building for discussions and learning pruning skills.
Meets: M/W/F 1-5:00 p.m.
FPH 105
Enrollment: No limit
Lab fee: Book to be purchased

JT 105 ENVIRONMENT ECONOMICS
Stanley Warren (SS)
This course introduces some of the basic tools economiests use to understand environmental issues and evaluate solutions. Topics will include the social vs.
private costs of environmental damage, the economics of common property resources, market incren-tes versus government standards, and cost-benefit methods of environmental assessment. We will use examples from air and water pollution, deforestation, electric power production, and depletion of fisheries to frame applications of theory.
Meets: M/W/F 1-3:00 p.m.
First meeting is
Monday, January 7
FPH 104
Enrollment: 20

JT 106 LATIN AMERICAN ECONOMIC DEVELO-PMENT
Peter Dambak ’95
This course will give an overview of the current ecoomic situation in Latin America with an emphasis on strategies for development. We will begin by looking at the structuralist dependency, and neoclassical interpretations of the Latin American context. We will then examine the economic history of Latin America during the 1980’s with attention paid to the failure of import substitution industrialization, the debt crisis, IMF sterility plans, the heterodox solutions, and hyperinflation. Finally, we will look at prospects for the future and solutions to the current crisis.
Meets: T/Th 10:11-11:15 a.m.
Enrollment: 15

JT 107 ANALYZING ADVERTISEMENTS
Teresa Lai-White Williams ’88
This course will focus on analyzing advertisements, both print (magazine and television). We will come together twice a week to discuss ads and try to understand what advertisers were thinking when they came up with the various strategies for the ads. We will try to make the class as fun as possible without worrying about having to write 8-10 page papers.
There will be no required text for the course. However,
we will be reading various articles from Advertising
Age and other magazines that contain important articles about new advancements in advertising.
Meets: T/Th 9:10-10:30 a.m.
ASH 126
Enrollment: 10
Lab fee: $4.

JT 108 MATH GAMES: A COURSE FOR WOMEN
Amelia Hardwick ’85
Are you stuck about math games but never quite had the time to get into them? Would you enjoy an unscheduled activity to share and explore them with others? This is your chance! In each session we will explore a different category of math games such as logic games, board games, puzzle games, number games, and games of position. From these explorations we will craft effective problem solving techniques, build mathematical models, and when possible develop rigorous proofs of winning strategies. In class I will focus on cooperative learning and each student will be encouraged to lead groups and present her own and her group’s findings. Some of the books we will draw from are Africa Cantu, C. Zaslavsky, Games of the North American Indians, S. Calvin, Proline Fishing Through Recreational Mathematics, B. Averbach, O. Chen, and Students will be expected to do some outside playing and to keep a journal of their exploration. All women are encouraged to attend and there are no mathematical requirements except curiosity.
Meets: T/Th 10:30-12 noon
ASH 222
Enrollment: 20
JT 100 PSYCHOLOGICAL EXPERIMENTATION
BY COMPUTER: AN INTRO TO MEL
Cheri Chueh (CCE)
Micro Experimental Laboratory (MEL) is a new generation of computer software designed by research psychologists to assist in the design, administration, and analysis of psychological experiments. Students will learn how to set up an experiment using MEL's forms, a relatively easy procedure in comparison to writing a program in Pascal or C. This class is especially recommended for students planning Division III projects that involve designing and conducting a psychological experiment.
Mets: January 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 19-12 noon
ASH 125
Enrollment: 6

JT 110 ABS OF 'C'
Tim Edvald '90
Control, Speed: Computer programming in C. Our few intense weeks will cover all aspects of the C programming language, some basic principles of structured programming, and as many useful data structures as we can sneak in.
Mets: M/T/W/Th 10-12 noon
ASH 221
Enrollment: 12
Prerequisite: Some programming experience

JT 111 ARCHITECTURE: STORIES, MYTHS, AND OTHER TALES
Kavis Falkerson '78
This is a course aimed at exploring a broad spectrum of current architectural movements and practices. A critical perspective which focuses on how the expression of built form reveals our inherent cultural constructs. Topics to include: modernism, post-modernism, deconstruction, eclectic movements, non-Western architecture, and alternative lifestyles and co-housing projects. The course will involve short design exercises and selective readings as a means of understanding the architectural design process.
Mets: T/Th 2-4:00 p.m.
ASH 126
Enrollment: No limit

JT 112 THE LEGACY OF NATIVE AMERICA
Frank Caplan
Aside from the familiar images of Thanksgiving, Native American contributions to this country and the rest of the world have been largely overlooked. This course will explore how various Native Indian peoples developed a myriad of food crops, medicines, social and political innovations, mathematical, linguistic, and recreational practices, and environmental/potential principles that continue to affect millions of people today.
Mets: T/Th 6:45-8:45 p.m.
ASH 222
Enrollment: 25
Lab fee: $3.

JT 113 A CRITIQUE OF THE POLITICS OF THE NEW RIGHT
Marie Gordon '88 and Melissa Peck '89
This course will examine the rise of the political right in the United States in the 1980's and its dominance in public policy. The class will focus on defining the non-conservative and the Christian right which will help in understanding the political left. We will also examine periodicals on both sides of the spectrum for a broader view on issues, allowing the students to form their own educated opinions.
Books: Nancy Bliss, Naom Chomsky, Spiritual Warfare, Sara Diamond.
Mets: T/Th 1:30-3:30 p.m.
PFF 106
Enrollment: 20
Lab fee: $7; screening and video rentals.

JT 114 THE BALTIC NATIONS ARE NO LONGER ON THE FRONT PAGE
Eva Roth '03
Esotra, Latvia and Lithuania—what is happening there? The purpose of this course is to develop a better understanding of the present day political conflicts in the Baltic Nations. We will take a look at the political  historical and economic background of these Baltic neighbors. Based on our new found historical awareness we will examine the channels which the Nations are using to have their demands met, and we will present possible solutions to the problems and conflicts with which the Nations are faced.
Mets: January 10, 15, 17, 18, 22 1:30-3:50 p.m.
PFF 103
Enrollment: 15

JT 115 TORTURE: SOCIAL CONSTRUCTION AND ARTISTIC INTERPRETATION
Morgan Johnson '87 and Thomas Stenon '87
This class will be an examination of how torture was exploited in the end of "high art" and social construction in the two different periods from the Renaissance to the Enlightenment. The influence of torture has a permanent influence in the function of the institution and in its methods. Our value as human beings is weighed in the examination. The process of examination will have emphasized the workplace, medicine, education and the judicial process. This mode of oppression has socially shaped beings into docile bodies, yet it is also the very process of individuality. Topics will include the consciousness of mortality of the artist and his relationship to God and State. The expansion of self expression within the medium of painting, sculpture and architecture will manifest itself in the works by artists such as: Gurnerwald, El Greco, Poussin, Harno-Burman.
Mets: T/Th 1-3:00 p.m.
ASH 111
Enrollment: 20
Lab fee: $10; books.

JT 116 BATTERED WOMEN WHO KILL
Melissa Beck '87
In the 1970's the case of Francine Hogan, and Joyce Hawbaker brought the issue of battered women who kill to the attention of the entire country. In this class we will examine these issues from both a legal and social perspective. We will focus on the trial issues for battered women who kill considering such issues as jury selection, possible legal defenses (self-defense vs. insanity), and the admissibility of expert testimony on the Battered Woman Syndrome. We will be reading cases, articles and watching videos which deal with the subject.
Mets: M/W 1:30-4:00 p.m.
PFA
Enrollment: 20

JT 117 WOMEN AND BODY IMAGE
Loura Ernst '88
This course will examine the representation of women in popular women's magazines. We will address the role of these images in our culture as well as our own personal lives. The ways in which these images form societal definitions affecting our self-image, identity formation, etc and how these manifest into political and economic discourse will be the primary focus of class discussions.
Some questions that will run throughout the course are: Why are we attracted to images that may be destructive? Is it possible to construct a woman's magazine in which images and text incorporate all women and affirm our diversity while maintaining a mass audience?
Mets: T/Th 3-4:30 p.m.
PFF 108
Enrollment: 25
Lab fee: $3.

JT 118 THE REVOLUTION WILL NOT BE TELLSISED
Mathew Gugger '87 and Joanna Sallie '87
This course is designed as a dynamic workshop to deal with issues of civil disobedience, non-compliance, violence versus non-violence, and internal power struggles within activist movements. The course will explore the tactics and history of various protest movements in this country and elsewhere. We will also look at current political emergencies and responses to them. The course will examine the personal and political questions that arise when the decision is made to take direct action. The workshop will be structured to include intensive group discussions and improvisational exercises to help us delve deeper into the individual's commitments to and doubts about direct actions.
Mets: T/Th 9:30-12:30 p.m.
PFF 108
Enrollment: 15
JT 119 "IF YOU LOVE ARYSES YOU MUST HAVE WINGS": NIETZSCHE'S JOURNEY BEYOND GOOD AND EVIL
Barrett

This class will study Friedrich Nietzsche's philosophy, focusing on his search for meaning in the age of nihilism. According to Nietzsche, nihilism—the state in which values and existence have no meaning—is the fundamental crisis confronted by humanity. However, Nietzsche believes that this crisis is potentially liberating, by rejecting traditional forms of morality, Nietzsche hopes to create an affirmative philosophy that transcends the nihilistic "human-all-too-human" self. We will discuss Nietzsche's critique of traditional philosophy, culture and morality. In addition, we will examine his genealogical approach to history, how the western philosophical tradition is reeling in its own self-destruction, and the "revaluation" of values in the wake of collapsing culture. The class will read selections from Thus Spoke Zarathustra and several short essays.

Meets: T/Th 1:30-2:45 p.m.
FPD 107
Enrollment: 14

JT 120 AFTERLIFE BELIEFS: A SURVEY OF POST-RETIREMENT OPTIONS
Michael Sommke '78

Reincarnation. Transmigration. Bliss. Annihilation—these are some of the ideas about the afterlife we will consider. We will primarily survey beliefs of the ancient world of the Egyptians, Hindu, Pagan and other religions in their cultural contexts. Secondary we will look at modern-day New Age teachings. The scope of the course will be open to student interest. Texts used will be student interest. Texts used will be Reading requirement: From Premonitions to Zen, edited by Morris Eizen.

Meets: M/W/F 1:30-2:00 p.m. in ASH 222 and F 1:45-2:45 p.m. in ASH 112
Enrollment: 20
Lab fee: $2

JT 121 EDUCATION WORKSHOP
Jim Aym '88 and Mary Ascione '88

This course is designed for people who have had experience teaching, as classroom teachers, student-teachers, camp counselors, day care leaders, tutors, etc. We will examine theoretical issues in education from our perspectives as both educators and learners. We will look at how our experiences have altered and shaped our educational philosophies, and ask why our practices are often in contradiction with such ideas.

Some questions addressed will be: Can educational reform be brought about through traditional schools? Is alternative education inherently elitist? What is the role of a teacher? To what extent are authority and structure necessary parts of schooling? Can school respect individual differences?

This class will operate as a student guided classroom. The goals, structure and subject matter, will be guided by the collective interests and experiences of the group. Must have teaching experience.

Meets: T/Th 12:00-1:15 p.m.
FPD 105
Enrollment: 20
Lab fee: $2.

JT 122 ALTERNATIVES TO THE CRYSTAL BALL
Andrea Wright (Career Options)

Many "tests" and computer programs have been developed and marketed which claim to successfully match individuals and career/job choices. While we in Career Options are somewhat skeptical with regard to the reliability of unstandardized tests, we recognize that they can be useful in exploring work options. (They are used, for example, in all Life-Work Exploration workshops). For the first time, the CROC is offering to "test" students for career compatibility. We will use these "standardized tests": Holland Self-Directed Search; Strong Campbell Interest Inventory; Myers-Briggs Type Inventory; and SIGI Plus.

Class time will be used to discuss the results. Preference will be given to "older" students.

Meets: January 4-13 M/W/F 3:30-5:30 p.m.

Lab fee: $25 for materials. ($50 for HSC students and 5-College students.)

JT 123 DIVISION I WORKSHOP
Maureen Mahoney, coordinator, est. 1968 CSC 112
Sooon Waele (CCS), Patricia Rosemary (SST), Nancy Lowry (NS), H 6A (TBA)

This workshop is designed to assist and support students in the process of formulating, drafting, and refining a Division I Independent Project in any of the four schools. If you have a final paper from a course that you would like to rework as a Division I examination, or if you need some help in formulating a proposal, faculty members will be available to help you. After reviewing the Division I process in general, discussion will be tailored to the needs of the students in the workshop. We will meet as a group twice a week for 11/2 hours, and schedule individual appointments if necessary.

Meets: T/Th 10:30-12 noon
First meeting is January 3.
CSC 126

JT 124 DIVISION II WORKSHOP
Maureen Mahoney, coordinator, est. 1968 CSC 112
Sooon Waele (CCS), James Waddell (SS), Nancy Lowry (NS), H 6A (TBA)

This workshop is designed to guide students in the process of formulating a Division II proposal. Faculty from each of the four schools will be available to discuss the aims of Division II work and the mechanics of writing a contract. Topics of discussion will include the interdisciplinary studies, the Third World Experience, the relationship of courses to the examination, and the incorporation of field work and internships. We will meet for three two-hour sessions in one week. The goal is for each student to complete the workshop with a draft of a Division II contract.

Meets: M/W/F, January 7, 9, 11 10-12 noon

JT 125 WHY DOESN'T THE U.S. HAVE NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE?
Barret Goddard, M.D.

This course will examine why the United States is the only industrialized country which does not have a national health insurance system. Throughout the course we will identify past barriers and correlate them with the present political situation. We will also try to examine future policy options in light of the past defeats. The course will be taught in a seminar fashion. We will cover the following topics:

* Analytic Perspectives: Storrs for NHI: 1870-1910;
* Labor Opposition and the First NHI Proposal: 1911-1925;
* Why Social Security Without NHI? 1926-1943;
* The Fair Deal Era and NHI Near Acceptance: 1944-1952;
* The Emergence of Managed Care and its Disinuation by the Health Insurance Industry: 1972-present;
* The Uses of History for American Health Care Policy Makers.

Meets: January 3, 10, 14, 17, 20 10-12 noon

JT 126 "WHAT'S GOING ON?": THE AIDS EPIDEMIC
Michelle Marshall (NS)

This course will examine issues around the AIDS epidemic including:

* What is AIDS? The biological basis of AIDS
* Who gets AIDS: How and Why
* New Treatments and Controversies around treatment
* AIDS in the Third World vs. AIDS in the First

This course will primarily focus on the scientific aspects of AIDS, but there will be plenty of room to discuss other issues. Be prepared to share your knowledge, interests and perspectives on the AIDS epidemic.

Meets: T/W 10-12 noon
CSC 114
Enrollment: 25
JT 130 PERFORMANCE POETRY/VOICE-SPEAK
Barbara Selfridge
In this workshop we'll write and present performance art and vocal poetry. Many short writing assignments (in-class, take-home, individual and collaboratively) will help dislodge our most important and/or irrelevant material, and from that we'll develop scripts, using our bodies, voices and other simple props to give our words an added resonance. This is a good workshop for people who do want to speak their piece but don't feel they have the "right" body or voice or words for performance. No experience in poetry or performance is necessary.
Meet: M/W/F 12:30-1:30 January 7-18
Lab Fee: $10

JT 131 TELLING SECRETS/FICTONIALIZED AUTOBIOGRAPHY
Barbara Selfridge
You already have the material. Now how do you write the stories? In this workshop we'll start with the premise that the world is always better by having its stories told. Then we'll learn from the power of dreams: both to take whatever liberty we need to with "reality" and in our pursuit of deeper truths. Leet of short writing assignments—in-class and take-home—make this a good class for beginning writers and for those who have encountered a "block.
Meet: M/W/F 6:30-9:30 p.m. January 7-18
Lab Fee: $10

JT 132 POET AND PRESENT DANGER: WRITING OUT OUR LIVES
Lee Kofca
Let's write about our basics, from whenever we are on the spectrum of our sexualities. First crises or coming out, first sex or gym teachers, lesbian and gay escapes of all types. And those topics more difficult: families, fears, failed relationships. And let's not forget the complicated issues of these times: making babies, AIDS, queer-bashing, outing, and the not-to-mention right.
In this week-long course we'll meet three days each, time for three hours to explore the outs and ins of who we are. Using guided imagery, writing exercises, outside readings and our own wit and wisdom, we'll attempt prose, poetry—whatever form will take what we want to tell. All are welcome.
Meet: M/W/F January 7, 9, 11 9-12 noon
Lab Fee: $3

JT 133 IS TRUTH STRANGER THAN FICTION? WRITING AUTOBIOGRAPHICALLY
Ellen Dews '82
In this class we will explore, through reading and writing, works of fiction and autobiography which are autobiographical in nature. Readings will range from an essay by Nancy Mairs to a short story by Tim O'Brien, and may include excerpts from the memoirs of Tobias Wolff as well as chapters of novels and other works of "fiction." Each member of this class will be expected to produce a memoir of 10-15 pp. In a workshop fashion, we'll come up with ways to give shape and form to our life experiences, and to find meaning in them that goes beyond the personal. This class will not concern itself with the memoir of the rich and famous, nor will its writers attempt to tell their lives stories from beginning to end. Our primary interest will be the memoir that works as a window, providing a brief yet clear glimpse into the life of an individual, and into the human condition. This is an intensive workshop—come prepared to read and write a lot.
Some questions addressed: What makes a narrator "credible"? How does this reliability (or lack thereof) work for or against the memoir writer? When does the "truth" of your story become something other than what actually happened? How honest is memory? How do we read and write to compensate for this?
Meet: TTh 7-9:00 p.m.
Lab Fee: $10

JT 134 WRITING FOR THE BROADCAST MEDIA
Deborah Eliner
So you want to be heard? The broadcast media speaks directly to the world... but writing for radio or television requires a different set of skills from that used to write a research paper, novel, newspaper article, or catalog course description. This is a practical course in dynamic "real world" broadcast writing. Topics will include:
- potential limitations of the media
- the role and tools of the writer
- integration of visual and verbal elements
- effective use of language and structure
- industry terminology
- formal script mechanics
- audience analysis and corresponding strategies
- legal, ethical, and professional considerations
The course will consist of in-class writing exercises, lectures, screenings, and discussions of professional and student work.
NOTE: Even if you are NOT a writer, and/or NOT interested in broadcasting, this course will help you become a more effective communicator. And it should be fun!
Meet: TTh 2:50-5:00 p.m. (last class meets January 17)
Lab Fee: $10

JT 127 CURRENT POLITICS OF BIRTH AND MIDWIFERY
Pinefield Center '74
This course will look at the politics surrounding personal choices in birth and midwifery care. Birth has become a focus for women striving for social change regarding the treatment of their bodies and of their children. We will take a brief look at the history of midwifery and homebirth in the U.S. as well as the issues that midwives face today in mainstream politics both locally in Massachusetts and nationally.
A midwifery model versus a medical model of birth and its implications will be explored. What prevents homebirth from being a more popular choice when the current research shows that it is no safer at hospital birth? How does midwifery and homebirth care affect mothering and family bonding? How is the birth process linked to women's own psycho-social body image and her participation in ongoing health care? Why does the U.S. still rank 17th in infant mortality even with its rampant use of technology? Can midwifery care change the trend?
We will examine these issues through various readings including: Giving Birth, Alternative in Childbirth, Inmanacals: A Midwife's Story, and others. A slide show of the history of birth through art forms, and videos of birth will also be presented.
Meet: M/W/F 9:30-11:00 a.m.
PFF 107
Enrollment: No limit
Lab Fee: $5

JT 128 BASIC MASSAGE
Stacy Sluder '79
This is a hands-on workshop focusing on basic massage techniques. You will learn both workshop and partner massage. Participants learn to give a full body massage. Depending upon interest, other topics may include reflexology, treatment and exercise for specific injuries or conditions, and herbal first aid. Wear loose clothing, bring oil, mat to lie on and a towel or blanket.
Meet: Wednesdays 7-9:00 p.m. and Fridays 9-11:00 a.m.
PFF 108
Enrollment: 50 MUST attend all classes
Lab Fee: $3 to pay first session.

JT 129 SUPPRESSION/EXPRESSION: MUSEUMS
Tom L. Fraubenhom
America's museums have recently been engaged in a new series of controversies: censorship, racism, and elitism are terms that again swirl around the museum field. This course serves as an introduction to some of these issues. Among topics to be discussed will be: the cultural power of museums; government funding and government control; outside censorship and self-censorship; homophobia and museums; multicultural responsibilities and racist traditions; physical and intellectual access to the cultural patrimony. Depending on class size and interest, field trips and discussions with museum directors and curators will be arranged.

JT 136 HEAT, FLASH AND WHIRLWIND: A WRITER'S WORKSHOP
Tanis Allam '88 and Nathaniel Som '88
Do you reject the constrained values of the literary-industrial complex, and write SF, fantasy, terroristic, slipstream, surreal, gothic/manneristic/detective/western, magical realism, concrete, millenarian, automatic, meniscic, necro video and/or interactive fiction? Spend this January with a host of like minded writers, creating by night and critiquing by day. For the best results, the course moves often, and a certain amount of courage and honesty will be helpful in critiquing one another's work. There will be an optional reading and equipment list for inspiration and further work in specific genres; workshop members should share any special backgrounds or interests in class. Final goal: to get published.
Meets: M/T/W/Th/F 3-5:00 p.m.
ASH 111
Enrollment: 20
Lab fee: $5, photo copy

JT 137 MODERN FICTION SEMINAR
Sara Moulton '89
We will read texts of different lengths; some short, short stories, some longer and a novella or two. Discussions will follow and center around issues brought up by the seminar participants with particular attention paid to some underlying themes such as notions of sexuality, tensions created between characters, devices of imaging, patterns of the self and role of the author as both creator of the text and in some cases character in the text. Authors will be concentrating on an include Atwood, Beckert, Duras, Handke and Lopatka.
Meets: T/Th 1:30-3:00 p.m.
FPH 104
Enrollment: 15

JT 138 IMAGES OF ADDICTION IN CONTEMPORARY LITERATURE
Theresa Atkins '82
This course will explore the mythology of addiction as it is expressed in contemporary literature. The class will discuss the portrayal of addiction in a variety of texts, and the relationship between addiction and the creative imagination. The course will attempt to move beyond simplistic notions of addiction and creativity—the glorification of the writer as drunk/junkie—to explore, without romanticism, the theme of addiction in modern literature. The reading list will include: Under The Volcano, by Malcolm Lowry; The Last Watched, by Charles Jackson; Requiem For A Dream, by Hubert Selby, Jr.; selections from the works of William S. Burroughs, including Junky, and Naked Lunch, as well as readings from the works of Raymond Carver, Charles Bukowski, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Jack London, Anna Kavan, and others.
Meets: M/W 1-2:30 p.m.
EDH 2
Enrollment: 16
Lab fee: $2.

JT 139 FUNDAMENTAL REALITIES AND THE WRITINGS OF HENRY MILLER
David Mepham '87
This course involves a close reading and discussion of Henry Miller's three seminal works: Tropic of Cancer, Tropic of Capricorn, and Black Spring. Additional readings may include selections from Wallace Whiteman, Louis-Ferdinand Celine, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, and Oswald Spengler. The reading load is fairly large, but well worth it. Specific topics for discussion will include the implications of his autobiographical form for its effect on literature and his development as an author, his treatment of sex and women, and his ideological framework and legacy. Miller writes: "Everything that was literature has fallen from me. There are no more books to be written, thank God."
Meets: T/Th 10:30-12 noon
EDH 4
Enrollment: 15
Lab fee: $3.

JT 140 PSYCHOS IN LIT
Art Frade '87
The unreliable narrator is a genre which utilizes a narrator which for one reason or another challenges the reader's trust. Perhaps the narrator is a known liar, or insane, or so morally repulsive that he challenges the reader to believe in what the narrator is saying. Should the reader even believe what is being told? How can we identify an unreliable narrator? How can unreliable narrators be used in one's own writing? We will examine these and other questions in class. This course is developed from an independent study and will examine this genre through both creative and didactic teaching methods. This course will be especially good for people interested in literature, writing or psychology, and may be good for starting a Division I.
Meets: T/Th 9-10:30 a.m.
EDH 2
Enrollment: No limit
Lab fee: $3.

JT 141 DYNAMIC WORKS AND CIDER DOUGHNUTS
Bob Centofiglio '88 and Michelle Mullarkey '88
This course will draw upon the sheet music and poetry of a diverse group of women writers whose works celebrate personal strength. Class format will be informal discussions, journal writing, sharing of one's own work if desired. Potential readings include: Marge Piercy, Cherrie Moraga, Kate Chopin, Alice Walker, Tony Cade Bambara, Cumzhee River Collective, Andrea Luka, Amy L. Dunn, Linda M. Wro, etc. Some historical/political pieces will be included to supplement the literary selections.
Meets: M/W 3-4:30 p.m.
EDH 2
Enrollment: 12
Lab fee: $2.

JT 142 A TASTE OF CULTURE
Christia Cudlin '87 and Alice McClain '87
This class will involve culinary and literary examples from three different cultures. The novels will be discussed as we cook cuisine native to the author's country. We will prepare the meals together and discuss the novel which correlates with the particular menu. The final meal will be prepared by the students and a paper will be required dealing with the student's novel of choice. The novels will include a work from England by Margaret Drabble (to be decided as a later date), The Unbearable Lightness of Being from Czechoslovakia, and The Name of the Rose from Italy. The class will take place at our home in Conway (transportation will be provided if necessary). Contact instructor for information at 623-6097.
Meets: Thursdays (January 3, 10, 17) and Tuesday (January 22) 12:30-4:00 p.m.
Enrollment: 6
Lab fee: $5.
JT 143 BLIND LUCK, CHARISMA OR LUST: THE PSYCHOLOGY OF PERFORMANCE
Lola Goldoni
Problems of performance are not limited to the actor. From basketball to lecturing, even to surgery, as long as there is an audience, performance problems are all similar. It is only the external disciplines which are different.
This course is designed as a workshop to identify the elements of, as well as the impediments to, successful performance in any field, and to provide the tools to overcome these impediments by discussing and observing specific techniques of the actor's discipline. Students, whether actors or not, will be asked to prepare one scene for performance at the end of the course.
Meets: M/W/F 10:00 a.m.-1:00 p.m.
EN 41
Enrollment: 22

JT 145 THE ALEXANDER TECHNIQUE: FOCUS ON FORM
Diana Forrest
The Alexander Technique is a simple, practical method that teaches you how to re-direct unnecessary tension into useful energy. It involves learning how to recognize and prevent unwanted movement patterns and muscular holdings that interfere with our inherent vitality, expressiveness and grace. The principles of the Alexander Technique are basic. They can be applied to any activity, from ordinary everyday movement to highly specialized performance skills. Though the Alexander Technique is of particular interest and value to dancers, actors, musicians and athletes, it is also useful to those of you who experience discomfort and fatigue from prolonged periods of relative physical inactivity, i.e., sitting at a desk, computer terminal or through long meetings and classes.
Several teachers-in-training from the Alexander School in Philadelphia will be in residence during the week to assist Professor Forrest. Students will have the opportunity to work individually with a number of these highly skilled Alexander Technique practitioners.
Meets: January 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 1-4:00 p.m.

JT 148 CHRISTIANITY AND MODERN ROCK
Andy Bickel ’89 and Sunny King ’89
Once upon a time there was a dude named Jesus. Throughout history artists have commented upon his life through music and lyric. In this course we will examine perceptions of Christianity in modern rock music. Particularly, we will look at lyrics, lyrics in the context of music, and album art. When applicable we will critically examine the response of the Christian Church and the response of professional musicians to Christianity in rock music. Among other artists we will listen to and discuss the Beatles, BDP, the Brethren, Christian Death, the Clash, Phil Keaggy, the Pious, the Byrds, U2, and Stevie Wonder. Students will be encouraged to bring selections of their own music to class for discussion. Please bring a 90 minute blank cassette tape to the first class. A brief essay or lottery may be used to determine enrollment.
Meets: W/F 1-2:30 p.m.
FPH 102
Enrollment: 25
Lab fee: $5.

JT 149 SEVERAL SHADES OF BLUES: AN INTRODUCTION TO BLUES HISTORY
Jeremy Lyons ’88
This course is designed for both students and listeners of music who want to hear a variety of styles of the blues. We will examine the rural and urban blues traditions from musical, historical and socio-political perspectives. Musically, we will look at rural blues as it sprang from the work songs and spirituals, and the urban blues as an electrified mix of country blues and parallel urban traditions such as reggae, stride piano, and "boogie-woogie." Historically, we will examine ways in which the creation of these musices were influenced by racial and gender oppression and such historical events as the Great Depression, Black Migration to the North, and the World Wars. Sexuality and spiritualism in the blues lyric will also be discussed. Participants should bring their own perspectives and knowledge of the blues and related traditions to the class. We will use a variety of media such as recordings, readings, videos, and possibly performance by class members to explore this subject.
Meets: T/Th 1-2:30 p.m.
FPH/ELH
Enrollment: No limit

JT 150 POST-IMPRESSIONISM
Joe Faulk ’73
Post-Impressionism refers primarily to the art created by Gauguin, Van Gogh, Cassatt and Seurat between the years 1886 and 1906. This seminar examines the roots of Post-Impressionism in Impressionism and the social and personal factors that contributed to its importance. In considering the art from this brief but important period we will discuss the relationship between the natural world and artist's subjective vision of it, the role of Symbolism, and the tension between tradition and creative innovation. Understanding Post-Impressionism will illuminate such later movements as Cubism, Expressionism and Fauvism. The seminar includes a one-day museum trip to Boston.
Meets: M/W/F 10-12 noon starting January 7
ASH 223
Enrollment: 14
JT 153 STILL LIFE PAINTING
Thomas Baldwin '87 and James Yamada '87
Still life painting engages one directly with issues involved in the making of art. Emphasis will be laid upon a structural building of form and inquiry through looking and making decisions. We will also be viewing slides and readings will be given to familiarize one with still life painting in the last 30 years. This course is recommended for those who have had drawing I or painting I course and plan to take intermediate painting.
Meet: M/W/F 3-6:00 p.m.
2RE Enrollment: 10

JT 152 SOUND IDEAS - A SURVEY OF AUDIO ART
Andrew Lachenbruch '01
The medium of sound, as a form of cultural representation and expression has, for the most past, been overlooked in the grand scheme of artistic expression. However, there is a small but increasingly active international community of artists working in radio, installation, the cassette underground and even sound-centered film and video whose activities are just beginning to define the parameters of this under-explored artistic arena.

JT 154 EXPERIMENTS IN ANIMATION
Billy Greene '88
This is a course in cartoons. This is a workshop for making creative "animated" films quickly and inexpensively, designed for people who want to experiment with the notion of what animation actually is. We will be filming in group sessions to create a collective collated montage, emphasizing such paper's techniques as pixilation, claymation, cutouts, and cameraless animation (scratching/hand coloring). We will be inspired by screenings of genre-busting animated films. The course will not require knowledge of Disney films, amazing artistic skills, or a film background. It will require a lot of patience, some outside artwork, willingness to work in a group setting, and a vivid imagination.
Meet: T/TH 1-5:00 p.m.
2PH Enrollment: 10
Lab fee: $18 for equipment and mast materials.

JT 155 TIRLED OF GREY AND BLACK PHOTOGRAPHY?
Eric Zelman '89
Finished too many photography classes already and still have useful reservations of anything involving more than the handful you've come to depend on? We will review things you thought you could forget that have been troubling you (strobe, developer, printbox, color printing, "how to have white and black in your picture without polyethylene filters"). We will also have guest lecturers and field trips to studies and adverse conditions.
Meet: M/W/F 1-4:00 p.m.
2PH Enrollment: 14
Lab fee: $15

JT 155 WORLD WAR II COMBAT FILMS: ANATOMY OF A GENRE
Alex Day '96 and Harry Wang '97
Each class will watch a popular WW II combat film, then discuss it. With the help of a few easy readings on both cinematic and sociological film criticism, we'll make everyone a combat film expert in no time. Some of the many themes we will explore are: the limits of a combat film in portraying the experience of war; the influence films have on our perception of history; the films' definitions of courage, heroism and disorder; the portrayal, or often nonexistence, of women; and why it is that wounded never scream. We may also look at how the WW II genre evolved to today's Vietnam War films.
Meet: M/W/F 1-4:00 p.m.
2PH/ELH Enrollment: No limit
Activities

JT 156 WEAVING/SPINNING WORKSHOP
Jill L. Jones and Jill Rodenbush '87
This will be a two-part workshop for people interested in weaving and spinning. The first session is designed for experienced weavers who would like to complete a project within a three week, intensive period. The second section is open to anyone interested in wool science, i.e., working with fleece from the Hampshire Sheep and angora rabbits and spinning it into thread.
Register with Jill Rodenbush, Box 4150, ext. 326. During registration week, class will meet at the Farm Center with times TBA.
Enrollment: 15
Fee: $20 for materials.

JT 158 BETWEEN THE WORLDS: WITCHES, BROOMS AND FIRE
Arianna Collins '88 and Sheila Coatsy '87
In the context of the growing interest in the study of mythology, religion, and ecology, this seminar will examine a form of western European witchcraft called Wicca.
In the opening of ancient myths that are deeply rooted in the Earth, revering its cycles and processes.
Wicca as a religion of ecology, values the processes of the individual, and honors the feminine, masculine, and child in all beings. Our approach is both historical and ecological.
We will be reading the following texts: Wicca and Earth by Susan Griffin, The Spiral Dance by Starhawk, and Drawing Down the Moon by Margot Adler.
Meet: M/W/Th 2:30-4:00 p.m.
FPH 101
Enrollment: 12
Lab fee: $1.

JT 159 NEW YEAR'S ON THE RIO GRANDE
Earl Alkind and Glenda Lee Alkind (RCC)
The Rio Grande river forms the natural boundary between Texas and Mexico. The river has carved sheer walled canyons over 1200 feet high. Warm springs, striking geological land forms and desert vegetation are featured along the river. During Big Bend National Park, we will journey by canoe and/or kayak along this remote wilderness river. We will be covering over 100 miles in our 12 days on the river. The river is moving current with scattered small rapids that add excitement to the paddling. There will be opportunities to hike and explore side canyons in this desert wilderness. Working as a group we will create exciting meals, river saunas and enjoy power lounging in natural warm springs.
No previous canoeing experience is necessary for this trip. Navigating will be allowed with instructor permission.
All river camping and other outdoor skills will be taught throughout the adventure. All participants must be strong swimmers.

Cost: $325 for Hampshire students, $375 for 5-College and Commonwealth. A minimum of $120 will be needed for food on route to and from the river.

MANDATORY PRE-TRIP MEETING: November 14, 1990 at 6:00 p.m. in the Robert Crown Center
Enrollment: 10

JT 160 CANADIAN SKI ADVENTURE
Karen Warren (OPRA)
The Laurentian highlands in northern Quebec offer some of the finest winter adventures in North America. This 10-day trip will include nordic skiing at spectacular touring centers, backcountry skiing into pristine wilderness areas and an opportunity to learn snowshoe skiing. We'll journey out each day to sample fantastic skiing and then exit our warm and cozy accommodations each night. We'll also have a chance to experience the French culture of this region and explore Quebec City. No previous skiing experience is necessary as all skills will be taught. Experienced skiers will also enjoy this trip.
Approximate cost: $250 which includes food, accommodations, leadership, equipment and transportation. An additional equipment use fee will be charged to non-Hampshire people.

INFORMATIONAL MEETING: November 29, Thursday, at 4:00 p.m. in the Robert Crown Center.
Enrollment: 12

JT 161 BASIC ICE CLIMBING
Robert Garman and Peter Cole (OPRA)
This course will introduce you to the ice climber's tools, boots, crampons and ice axe. The program starts with a three hour session on January 7 at 3:00 p.m. in the Robert Crown Center to go over use of harness, basic knots and belaying. On Tuesday, January 8 we will go to the Adirondacks for three days of ice climbing at several different locations in the Kane Valley area. The course will allow students to progress at their own rate and there will be a 3 to 1 student to instructor ratio.
We will be staying in a house on Lake Champlain and cooking our own meals.
Peter Cole, author and photographer, will present a slide show lecture on New England ice climbing the final evening of the trip.
All equipment, clothing, food, provided.
Meet: January 8, 9, 10
See instructors at the RCC early to register.
Enrollment: 8

JT 162 ADVANCED ICE CLIMBING
Robert Garman and Peter Cole (OPRA)
Our main objective in this course is to provide the opportunity to do several "classic" multi-pitch ice climbs. The students in instructor ratio will be 2 to 1 and each day students will do a multi-pitch ice climb with an instructor. Previous ice climbing experience is required.
This course will be located in the Kane Valley area of the Adirondacks and will include indoor accommodations. All equipment, clothing and food provided.
Meet: January 15, 16, 17
See instructors early to register.

JT166 BEGINNING AIKIDO
Paul Sylvain
Aikido is a Japanese Martial Art whose philosophy is rooted in self-defense. Movement in Aikido is designed to off-balance, blend with, or enter to the weak side of an attack. After the initial evasive tactic, the attacker is thrown or immobilized by means of a joint lock, or off-balance throw. Beginners will learn balance, relaxation, movement, defensive falling and several basic techniques.
