Hampshire College is a private four-year liberal arts college located in Western Massachusetts, distinguished among colleges for its non-traditional academic program designed to support students in pursuing a personalized program of study. Students progress through a three-tiered system of divisions rather than the traditional freshman through senior levels. Division I is Hampshire's first year program, designed to introduce students to a variety of liberal arts study areas. Division II is the middle two years of the education in which students complete a self-designed concentration of studies. In Division III, the final year, students undertake an extensive independent project of their own design. In both Division II and III, students work under the supervision of a two-person faculty committee.

Hampshire College students receive narrative evaluations in lieu of grades for successfully completed courses. Upon completion of each Division, they also receive a comprehensive narrative evaluation of their work from the chairperson of their faculty committee. (Transfer students do not receive a Division I evaluation.) The Hampshire transcript consists primarily of these evaluations, but may also include documentation for study away from campus, internships, and other educational activities. Because of Hampshire's method of evaluating student work, no grade point average (GPA) or class rank appears on the Hampshire transcript or any other official documentation produced by the College.

Hampshire College is a member of the Five College Consortium, which includes Amherst, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges, and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. Through an interchange process, students register for and attend classes at the other institutions. They receive letter grades for these classes. The only permanent record of these courses is on the Hampshire transcript.

Hampshire College is fully accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges to award the Bachelor of Arts degree, which is equivalent to other four-year private liberal arts programs typically requiring a range of 120 to 128 credits. Because students pursue an individualized program of study, no major is identified on the diploma or transcript. In fall and spring terms, Hampshire students studying on campus, on field study, or participating in exchange programs are enrolled full-time. Enrollment in summer and January terms is optional.

Transcript Contents

The first page of the transcript lists Divisional requirements, courses and other activities attempted, completed, and in progress. This is followed by the student's course and Divisional evaluations. Additional documents may be included for field study, exchange programs and other evaluated activities. A course description section is included for students whose degree is not yet awarded, or upon student request.

Credit Recommendation

For the purpose of transcript evaluation, Hampshire recommends four credits for semester-long academic courses, independent studies, advanced educational activities and teaching assistantships; two credits for half-courses (identified in the title); and one credit for courses designated as co-curricular (#). Some transcripts include credits for Five College courses; if credits are not listed, refer to the host institution's course catalog. In addition to their course work, students complete independent work in Division II and III for which we have no standard recommendation.

- The College recommends six semester credits for Division I projects completed by students who entered prior to fall 2002.
- The College does not recommend credit for learning activities.
