

The Year at a Glance

The Harold F. Johnson Library had another productive year, despite the pandemic. We all went home in March of 2020 and did not re-open the library to in-person patrons until August 2, 2021. While the building was closed to the public, we moved our services to remote access reference and teaching, with digital reserves, e-books, and contactless circulation of print library materials. This report covers July 1, 2020 through June 30, 2021.

Library staff transitioned to both working remotely and on-site, with Access Services staff (including the Director of the Library) working at least two days a week in the building during the academic year so that we could continue to pull materials for digitization and circulation.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Media Services and the Advanced Media Labs taught 28 technology workshops reaching approximately 300 students and 9 classes reaching 106 students.
- Librarians taught 6 course-related instruction sessions, adapting to zoom teaching and reaching approximately 90 students
- Lots of behind-the-scenes work continued in preparation for the transition to FOLIO (the Future of Libraries is Open).
- Library staff answered 64 reference requests.
- We continued to transition the Knowledge Commons infrastructure over to the Community Commons (as their staff was all working remotely this entire time period, parts of the transition had to wait until we were back in person)
- We launched contactless pick up and had at least one library staff member in the library each day in order to provide the Hampshire community of faculty, staff, and students with library materials from all Five College libraries.

Circulation Statistics

This year was very different as we offered contactless pickup only (materials were placed in brown paper bags and put outside the library doors on a cart during the covid-19 pandemic, the whole time of this report. The following is an overview of our library's use during the 2020-2021 Academic Year.

Interlibrary Loan Access Services

- Borrowing Fill Rates
 - Of a total of 697 borrowing requests submitted by Hampshire patrons, 80% of those requests were successfully filled. For article requests, the fill rate was at 89%, while loan requests (requests for physical items) had a fill rate of 57%.
 - The lower fill rate for physical items has several contributing factors--requests for items which are available in the Five Colleges are cancelled, adding to a lower fill rate. Additionally, as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, there were fewer libraries lending physical materials, meaning that, in some cases, it was more difficult to find libraries offering the physical materials our patrons needed.
 - The total number of borrowing requests received has declined from FY2020, when we received a total of 1,083 requests for materials from Hampshire patrons.
- Document Delivery Rates
 - We filled 207 article requests through Document Delivery. These are articles which our patrons submitted as ILL requests to be filled by lending libraries, which we were ultimately able to fill ourselves from Hampshire’s collections.
- Lending Fill Rates
 - Our number of lending requests increased significantly this fiscal year, from 796 to 1,407. Of those requests, we filled 75% of article requests, which is on target from previous years.
 - Due to a library decision to not circulate physical items through ILL during the COVID-19 pandemic, our loan fill rate is 1% for this fiscal year. Once ILL circulation is restored in FY22, it is anticipated that our lending loan fill rates will return to normal levels.

Collection Inventory

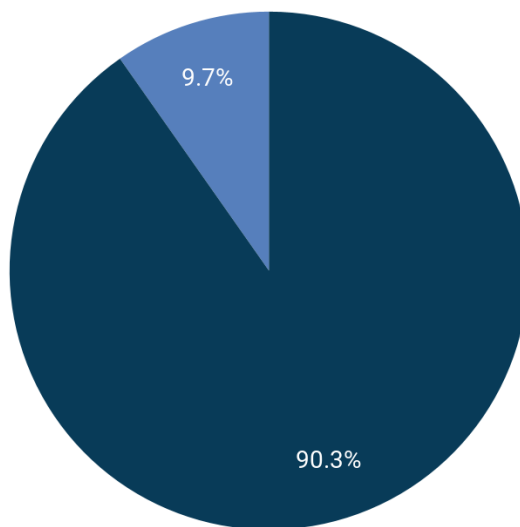

During FY 2021, we performed inventories of portions of our collection, including the Game Library, the Seydel Collection, and our DVD collection, among others. All told, Library and student staff found approximately 13,300 of the items whose locations these inventories sought to verify.

The pie chart below demonstrates the percentage of items found in inventory projects that began and ended during the fiscal year.

Reserves

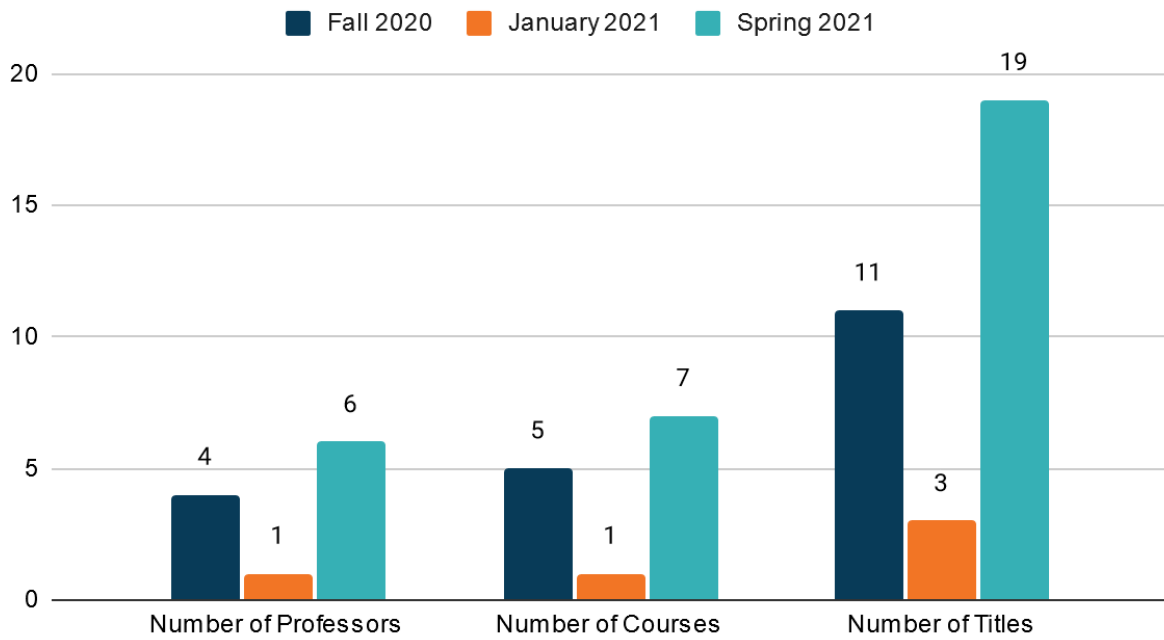

Course Reserves

Due to situations surrounding the Covid-19 pandemic, we opted to forgo traditional 4-hour and open reserve collections in FY 2021 in favor of meeting course reserve needs digitally. This took the form of creating scans of physical books for e-reserve and purchasing e-books for use in courses.

Advanced Media Labs

The Media Labs have been host to over 3 dozen tours describing the tools and functions as well as general assets and opportunities in the Library Media Labs.

As a facility we've served 9 classes with 106 students.

THE ARCHIVES: has been the largest project we've focused on lately. As an element of our anniversary, we've made an accelerated push to preserve, document and look to provide access to ...:

Over 10,00 total items in the "MediaBasement" archive. This includes photos, audio recordings, videos, film transfers, pdfs, presentations and more. Almost every common media type is represented. Though the film/video portion of this still represents less than 60% of the available total.

167 New Captures this year of previously uncaptured material.

Over 600 new titles cataloged with metadata.

Estimates on costs and viability of outsourcing remaining tapes. - Inquired as to the availability of outsourcing. None found for Open Reel tape, several found for 3/4", VHS and Hi-8. Estimate the cost to send 300 3/4" tapes (1 hr each on average) is $7500.

Worked with roughly 22 students on an individual basis, approximately 15% as long term multi-interaction events, the remainder as more than one-time interactions.

Roughly another 37 students as one-time interactions (this is low due to the pandemic restrictions, though higher than the prior year when there was no in-person meeting).

Full list of non student collaborations below.

Held 9 advanced media workshops for students on studio production and video production
4 workshops on audio production/post-production

FOLIO Library System Migration: The Future of Libraries Is Open

Launch of Electronic Resources Management, August 2020

The FOLIO Electronic Resources Management Working Group (FERM) successfully planned and implemented the move to FOLIO's ERM suite of tools. The transition required reaching consensus on data conversion, data management, workflows, policies, and procedures for electronic resource management within the Five Colleges. The planning phase lasted over a year. The migration involved both transitions from extant systems in use at UMass, Smith College, and Amherst College, as well as new data creation and input by Mt. Holyoke and Hampshire Colleges' ERM library staff. Committee work is ongoing, and FERM additionally managed a major version upgrade in May 2021.

FOLIO ERM streamlines the management of the many purchase agreements and contracts with vendors for electronic journals, databases, e-books, streaming audio and video, and other electronic resources. In addition, FOLIO ERM connects to the EBSCO systems used to manage linking and campus proxy access to those resources via centralized searching with Discover (EBSCO Discovery Service), and direct access to publisher platforms like ScienceDirect, SpringerNature, or JSTOR.

The Five College Consortium, as part of its FOLIO beta partnership with EBSCO Information Services (EBSCO), has become the first consortium in the world to implement the Electronic Resources Management (ERM) suite of tools.

Full FOLIO Migration Project

The work of the full systems transition to FOLIO continues apace, with the ERM launch serving as a successful model for the larger migration. As systems librarian, Jennifer Bolmarcich serves on the following project committees: FOLIO Implementation Team (FIT); FOLIO Electronic Resources Management Working Group (FERM); FOLIO Acquisitions Working Group (FAWG); and the FOLIO Inventory Working Group. Suzanne Karanikis serves on the Circulation and Users For FOLIO Working Group (CUFF). Committee work involves weekly or biweekly meetings, large data cleanup projects, FOLIO Community involvement in testing, software feature design, and global collaboration with other implementing institutions.

The original system launch date of July 2021 has been pushed forward to Summer 2022 to allow for necessary feature and performance improvements, as well as for the possibility of in-person training. A soft launch is scheduled for January 2022 to create a full 6 month training and testing process.

Five Colleges Committee Service

- 4 FOLIO Working Groups (see above)
- Five Colleges Discovery Committee
- Five Colleges Aleph Advisory Group
- Planning for FY22 launch of 2 new committees: Electronic Resources Management, and Metadata Management.

Library Technical Services and Systems

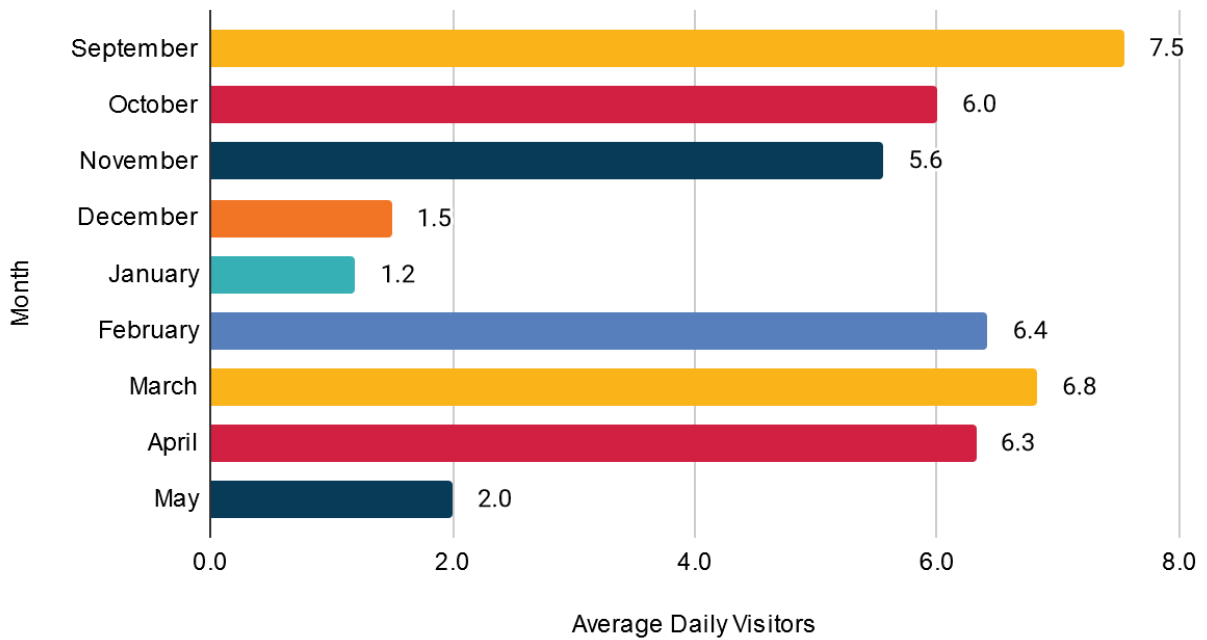

- Cataloging and processing of new acquisitions and progress on the backlog of alumni gifts.
- EBSCO Discovery Service: improvements to search defaults and facet displays for better user experiences.
- Implementation of EBSCO's new Publication Finder interface for title and subject search of our e-journals
- Aleph ILS maintenance: Managing pandemic-related changes to hours and request pickup, including the restarting of Five College consortial lending for the Spring 2021 semester.

Library Space Use

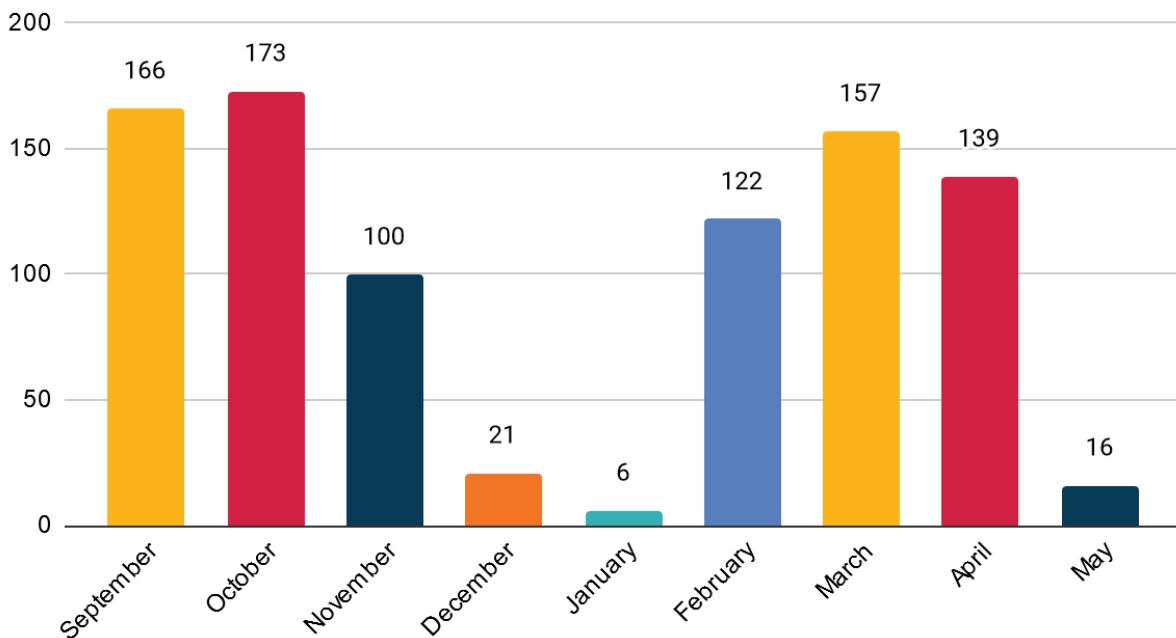

The following data was compiled based on patron head-counts conducted by our student employees on the half hour during the academic year. Notably, these statistics only cover usage of the Airport Lounge (APL) as, due to Covid-19 precautions, other library spaces were not freely available for use during FY 2021. Usage was also impacted by the number of students who studied remotely during one or both semesters.

Numbers for January and May may be incomplete, as the student workers are not always present to do headcounts for the full duration of those months, nor is the library open regular hours during those months. The following graphs examine space usage by our patrons.

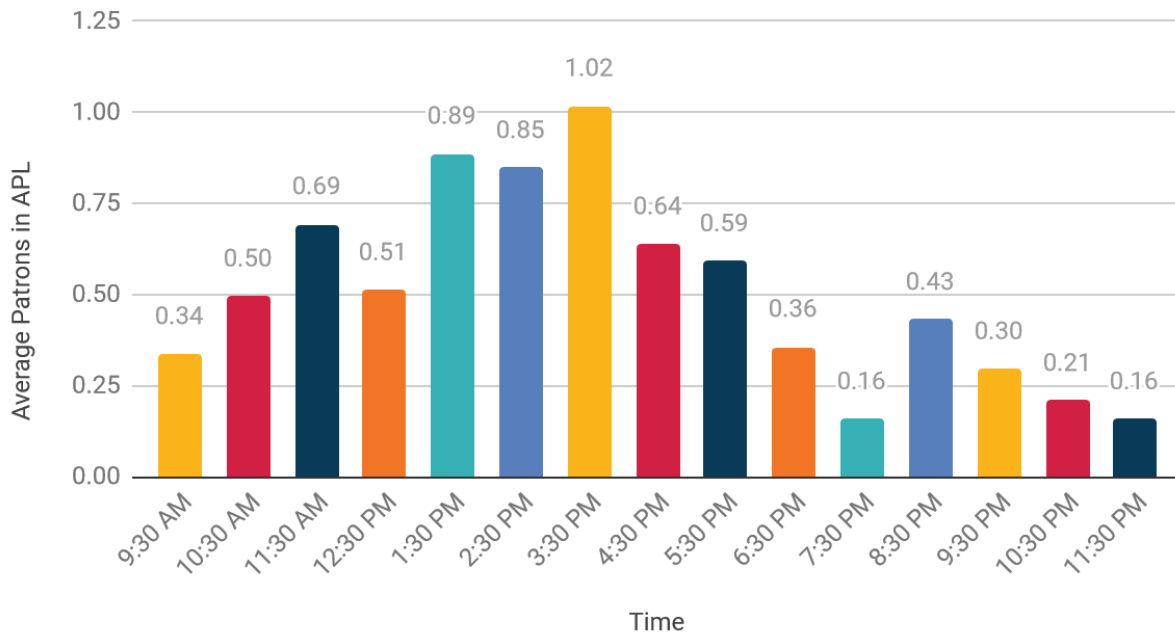

Daily Average Airport Lounge (APL) Visitors FY 2021

Airport Lounge (APL) Monthly Visitors FY 2021

Average Airport Lounge (APL) Visitors per Hour FY 2021

Writing Center Highlights

- Writing Help at Night provides one-to-one staff support to students at all stages of the writing process
- Writing Help at Night has grown consistently over the past eight years:
- Number of meetings per academic year has increased 270% (when factoring in enrollment)
- The program has gone from serving 1 out of every 13 Hampshire students to 1 out of every 5
- Writing Help at Night is an essential campus resource for Hampshire students seeking academic support

Current state of Writing Help at Night program

- Writing Help at Night was run by one staff member, Andrew Byler, within the scope and budget of the Writing Program

- As the budget expanded and contracted over the past eight years, with other staff positions added and then removed, Andrew continually managed the program and its growth since 2013
- The location of the program has changed over the years, from the Writing Center, to the Library, to the Knowledge Commons, to the Merrill Pavilion and zoom (remote), and now meets with students in the Kern Center
- Despite fluctuations in college enrollment, staffing reductions, and a decreased yearly budget, the program has steadily grown since 2013

Academic Year	Total Students	Total Meetings	Staff Hours (per week)
2020-2021	105	815	20 (1 staff)

Significant contributions to Hampshire

- Facilitate biannual writing workshops with James Baldwin Scholars
- Meet weekly with CASA staff to refer and support students struggling academically
- Support international and ELL students at Hampshire
 - Participate in biannual meetings with the ISO
 - Work 1-on-1 with students in weekly meetings
- Meet with and support remote students attending Hampshire from different states and countries, and in different time zones
- Support Hampshire students' success beyond their academic studies:
 - Provide writing support for resumes, cover letters, internship and job applications outside of CORC hours of operations
 - Provide writing help to Division III students and recent alumni assembling graduate school applications (e.g. letter of intent, statement of purpose, writing samples)
- Working with the Writing Help at Night program is required in several course syllabi across all disciplines, and suggested as a campus resource in many more
